Thurs. June 3. 1920.

My dear:—

I am just thinking what we will be ~~doing~~ just a week from now.

We won't be a hundred mile a part will we, We are going to get our work done up just about the right time, We will have our corn planted and ready to plow when we get back.

My dear I am glad it is just a week till you will be with me all the time, We won't half to think about each other so much.

Dewey will be home Saturday.

I hope your mother is better by this time, mama got your letter today (Friday).

My dear I have been putting of writing this week but next week this time there won't be need to be any letter writing to be done.

Good bye my dear.

With love.
